

It's in our DNA

Adinah Capital Partners announces its maiden investment into the healthcare and biotechnology industry in the form of Biocom Africa. Biocom Africa is a leading supplier of products for the diagnostic and research industries across Africa.

Adinah is a private equity manager providing solutions that create lasting value for its investors, the companies in which it invests and for the communities and stakeholders with whom it interacts. Adinah is a general sector focused investor but has a specific focus on companies that are able to disrupt the existing sectors a business operates in and the ability to innovate for long term sustainability. Adinah invests across Sub-Saharan Africa and specifically South Africa.
